2011 - 2013 AMI 3-6 Diploma Course

Dr Maria Montessori

Maria Montessori was a truly remarkable woman. Born in 1870, she was the first woman to be granted a medical degree from an Italian University.

After graduation, Dr Montessori became director of a school for intellectually disabled children. Her work with these children saw remarkable results. When they competed successfully in public examinations, Dr Montessori began to wonder what was possible using similar methods with normal children.

Her life work began in 1907 with a group of pre-school children from the slums of Rome, when she opened her famous "Casa dei Bambini" or "Children's House". Through her observations and work with these children she discovered their astonishing, almost effortless ability to learn. Children taught themselves! This simple but profound truth formed the cornerstone of her life-long pursuit of educational reform.

Montessori - A Career For You

Worldwide, there are 22,000 Montessori schools. In New Zealand at present there are approximately 300 classrooms and the growth in demand for qualified staff still exceeds availability. Career opportunities exist for MMEF graduates as the AMI diploma is internationally recognised for its high standard and authenticity.

Become an AMI teacher and prepare for the task of helping children develop their full potential.

The Montessori teacher:

- respects children as self-directed individuals and fosters growth toward independence and social responsibility
- creates an atmosphere of calm, order, and joy; a safe and stimulating environment which supports the developmental stages of each child
- helps children progress at their own pace and gradually discover their own capabilities
- gives engaging presentations with the beautiful, self-correcting Montessori materials

"With the support of the prepared adult, the child with his unlimited possibilities can be the transformer of humanity, just as he is its creator. The child brings us great hope and a new vision."

Dr Maria Montessori, The Absorbent Mind.

Why Take AMI Training?

Founded by Dr Maria Montessori

The Association Montessori Internationale (AMI), founded in 1929 by Dr Maria Montessori, is a global community which continues today to protect the integrity of her work.

A Guarantee of Quality

The Association Montessori Internationale accredits training centres throughout the world. These centres offer AMI diploma courses which are internationally recognised for their high standard and authenticity. The training is essentially the same in each centre. Training centres accredited by AMI remain under the

MMEF Maria Montessori Education Foundation

PO Box 108-054 • Symonds Street • Auckland 1003 • New Zealand • Phone 04 232 3428 • mmef@ihug.co.nz • mmef.org.nz constant supervision of AMI, are staffed by AMI Teacher Trainers and each course is examined by an external examiner appointed by AMI.

Knowledgeable Trainers Make the Difference

Every AMI course is conducted by an AMI trainer. These dedicated trainers have extensive teaching experience, an academic background, have participated in a rigorous Training of Trainers Program and possess in-depth knowledge and understanding of Montessori principles and applications.

AMI Diploma Provides Opportunities

- AMI trained teachers have abundant career prospects and are in demand in New Zealand
- The AMI diploma is recognised worldwide
- AMI is a truly international organisation
- An experienced AMI trained teacher might consider becoming a head teacher, administrator, consultant, teacher-trainer, or the owner of a school
- AMI also offers further programmes for diploma holders including annual Refresher Courses and the Educateurs sans Frontières programme (Educators without Borders) which aims to champion the cause of all children and to revisit Montessori principles and practices from the perspective of society at large.

The Montessori Approach

"The Montessori Method is a system of education born from the observation of the needs of the children at every stage of their physical and psychological development. Its objective is to help the child with the enormous task of inner construction necessary to pass from childhood to full adulthood."

Dr Mario Montessori, Jr., Education for Human Development

Thus, this approach attempts to promote in children characteristics which will help them to develop into free and functionally independent adults with a clear vision of the world around them and their role in it.

In the education of the child the adult has an indispensable function. Guidance is essential to the human development of the child, provided that this is offered with absolute respect for and trust in the child's human potentialities. So the primary function of the teacher is not so much to teach as to direct the natural energy of the child.

A continuous focus of study during the academic year is the characteristics of the child from 3 to 6 years of age, the needs expressed during this stage of development, and the means we have available to assist the child's work of self-construction.

Why Take "Face-to-Face" Training?

The Montessori approach offers a broad vision of education as an aid to life. It is designed to help children with their task of inner construction as they grow from childhood to maturity. It succeeds because it draws its principles from the natural development of the child. Its flexibility provides a matrix within which each individual child's inner directives freely guide the child toward wholesome growth.

The preparation of the adult about to undertake work with young children demands a high degree of self-discipline and commitment, and a professional attitude. This preparation can only be achieved through immersion in the Montessori theory under the supervision of experienced lecturers. Furthermore, the special materials to be used with the children in a Montessori class require individual training and supervised practice—as each piece of apparatus has a function in the total scheme of the Montessori Prepared Environment.

These fundamental aspects cannot be covered in sufficient depth by distance learning.

Montessori training is a process of re-orientation where students begin to discover for themselves the profound truths underlying the Montessori approach.

Courses are full-time and are offered over an academic year or several summers. The course programme includes lectures, seminars and demonstrations on Montessori philosophy, child development and the Montessori materials. Each course also includes significant components of observation, supervised practice with the materials, material making and teaching practice. Students prepare an album which details the purpose, use and presentation of each piece of material. In the words of Dr Montessori the teacher 'must give her lesson, plant the seed and then disappear; observing and waiting' (The Call of Education, Vol. 11, no. IV, December, 1925). This apparently simple proverb continues to be a piece of worthwhile advice and a source of inspiration. It is at the core of the role of the Montessori teacher.

The Course

The course includes a comprehensive study of the Montessori method and child development including:

- The Montessori Philosophy and Psychology of Early Childhood Education
- The Child's Acquisition of Fundamental Learning Skills
- The Development and Education of the Senses
- Language Development
- Mathematics
- Montessori Materials and their Role in Assisting Child Development
- The Critical Role of Observation in the Development of Children
- Montessori Professional Experience
- Theories of Child Development
- Current Issues in Early Childhood Education
- Montessori in New Zealand

Montessori Teacher Education In New Zealand

The Montessori approach made its first appearance in New Zealand in 1912 when the Montessori materials were used in Mother Aubert's Wellington Foundling home. There is an account of the introduction of the Montessori Method into New Zealand schools in 1916, and a kindergarten was attached to the Kelburn (Wellington) Demonstration School that ran using the Montessori approach and materials - operating from 1915 onwards. The Catholic school system also began adopting aspects of the Montessori Method at this time. Some of the Catholic convents retained the Method for their infant classes up until the 1940s and 1950s, particularly in the South Island.

The second wave of Montessori began in the mid 1970s. New Plymouth began the move towards Montessori pre school education when an American Montessori teacher spoke to a parent group in 1974. In the late 1970s two Montessori trainers were invited to New Zealand from England. Workshops were run in Christchurch and Auckland in 1977 and 1978. By the mid-1980s there were 13 Montessori pre-schools in New Zealand. These schools opened in direct response to the desire of parents to have Montessori education for their children. The need for quality Montessori teaching staff has long been appreciated in New Zealand. Over the past 10 years many New Zealand Montessori schools have recruited their teachers from overseas in a bid to attract and retain quality Montessori teaching staff. Many have advertised in AMI colleges around the world, and New Zealand is now home to Montessori Directresses from as far afield as Ireland, Sri Lanka, the United Kingdom, Singapore, Italy and the United States. This was due to the recognition of authentic Montessori training and the on-going stability this afforded their school's community. Montessori preschool education presently caters for the needs of more than 4,000 children, or about 9% of early childhood services.

Recent changes in legislation regarding the qualifications of pre-school teachers has brought to the fore the long-term unsustainability of solely recruiting Montessori staff from overseas, highlighting the need for quality, face-to-face training of Montessori Directresses/Directors here in New Zealand. The Montessori Association of New Zealand (MANZ) has worked with the Auckland University of Technology (AUT) to introduce a three year B.Ed (ECE) degree, which includes a Montessori component in the final year.

We see the AMI training course as a natural progression to ensure comprehensive face-to-face Montessori training is available in New Zealand, assuring the provision of quality Montessori professionals for the future.

Association Montessori Internationale

The Association Montessori Internationale (AMI) was established in 1929, by Dr Maria Montessori and her son Mario M. Montessori. The AMI is the recognised international authority on Montessori education and directs studies in affiliated teacher-training institutions around the world. During its long history the AMI has fostered the growth and development of Montessori education practices and standards through active work with member schools, teachers and educators. Regular study conferences of the AMI have served as important milestones in the development of new practices and the exchange of insights which have grown out of the application of Montessori to widely differing lands and cultures. The central aim of the AMI is to “maintain, propagate and further the ideas and principles of Dr Maria Montessori for the full development of the human being”.

Director of Training – Cheryl Ferreira

Cheryl Ferreira was born in Mumbai, India. She has worked with children from the age of 17, becoming interested in the Montessori approach while assisting in a Montessori school. Cheryl graduated with a BA Hons. and then received an MA in history from the University of Bombay. She did her Montessori training at the Indian AMI Montessori training in Hyderabad, India. She then worked in Montessori schools and on AMI courses in different parts of India. In 1998, she came to the Maria Montessori Training Organisation in London (MMTO) as part of AMI's Training of Trainers programme, and in 2000 she became an authorised AMI Trainer. Cheryl is currently a senior member of staff at MMTO and will be Director of Training for the MMEF 2008 AMI 3-6 Diploma Course.

Entry Requirements

Criteria for Selection

The following general entry criteria will apply to all applicants.

Intending students must:

- Be at least 18 years of age prior to the commencement of their training course
- Successful completion of a Diploma qualification at tertiary level
- Sign-off evidence of having observed a Montessori classroom session in action

NOTE: Special admission status may, in some circumstances, be granted to a limited number of applicants who do not have formal academic qualifications but who wish to be admitted on the basis of their relevant life/work experience. In such cases, an interview will be conducted with candidates seeking entry by this avenue by the Director of Training.

International students applying for MMEF programmes must also meet the following criteria:

- Produce evidence of having met the English language entry requirements of 7.0 in IELTS or another recognised English language test where English is not the applicant's first language.
- Obtain the necessary immigration documentation e.g. study visa and medical and travel insurance before commencement of the programme. Evidence of these must be cited by MMEF once the student has the necessary documentation. This must be no later than the commencement of the course.

Applicants will be accepted without regard to race, colour, religion, gender, marital status, age or national origin as long as the above requirements are met.

Recognition of Current Competence

MMEF has determined that under the category of special admission to its Diploma course it will, in certain cases, assess an applicant's relevant life and/or work experience as an avenue of admission only into the course. This process will however not be used to award credit for and exemption from part or all of the Diploma course. All accepted applicants will be expected to complete all parts of the Diploma course.

Graduation Requirements

The Early Childhood (3 - 6 years) Diploma of the Association Montessori Internationale is granted upon the successful completion of the course requirements. Taken into consideration are: regular attendance (minimum 90%) at lectures, observations, practical sessions with the materials, and practice teaching; submission of albums containing illustrated notes of didactic materials, preparation of specified classroom materials, written papers and practice teaching and observation reports. Passing grades must be achieved on written theory and practical examinations. In addition students must pass an oral examination conducted by a Board of Examiners from the Association Montessori Internationale.

All AMI Diplomas state only that the holder "has studied the principles and practice of the Montessori method for children" for the specified age group and has "passed the written and oral examinations." The diploma by itself does not automatically qualify the holder to teach. The state in which the graduate wishes to work will likely have other teaching requirements which must be fulfilled.

Diploma Requirements

AMI Early Childhood Diploma Requirements:

The Association Montessori Internationale Diploma is granted upon satisfactory completion of the course requirements in: attendance at lectures and supervised practice sessions, observations and practice teaching, classroom materials and albums; passing marks on both written and the oral examination conducted by Examiners of the Association Montessori Internationale.

Students not fulfilling any part of the course are given six months to make up the work. Students failing any part of the examination must retake that part of the examination the following year. The examination may only be taken twice.

Reviews: Each student's work and progress in the course are regularly reviewed by the instructors. Individual conferences are held with each student near the end of both semesters to discuss progress toward successful completion of the course and future Montessori work. More conferences are held as necessary and/or as requested.

Dismissal: Students may be asked to discontinue their course for medical, psychological, academic or other cogent reasons. Students are expected to abide by the conditions laid down for taking the course and any arrangements made for their training during it.

International Students

COURSE ASSISTANT – CAROL POTTS: The course assistant will additionally be the designated person responsible for all inquiries regarding pastoral care for International students.

CODE OF PRACTICE: MMEF has agreed to observe and be bound by the Code of Practice for the Pastoral Care of International Students published by the Minister of Education. Copies of the Code are available on request from this institution or from the New Zealand Ministry of Education website at <http://www.minedu.govt.nz/goto/international>

IMMIGRATION: Full details of visa and permit requirements, advice on rights to employment in New Zealand while studying, and reporting requirements are available through the New Zealand Immigration Service, and can be viewed on their website at <http://www.immigration.govt.nz>

ELIGIBILITY FOR HEALTH SERVICES: Most international students are not entitled to publicly funded health services while in New Zealand. If you receive medical treatment during your visit, you may be liable for the full costs of that treatment. Full details on entitlements to publicly-funded health services are available through the Ministry of Health, and can be viewed on their website at <http://www.moh.govt.nz>.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE: The Accident Compensation Corporation provides accident insurance for all New Zealand citizens, residents and temporary visitors to New Zealand, but you may still be liable for all other medical and related costs. Further information can be viewed on the ACC website at <http://www.acc.co.nz>.

MEDICAL AND TRAVEL INSURANCE: International students must have appropriate and current medical and travel insurance while studying in New Zealand.
